

CONFIDENTIALITY POLICY

B&C Ltd. company's policy for collecting, using and protecting personal information including electronically transferred data

1. This document explains B&C Ltd. company's rules for personal information collected as part of users' activities on the website www.wemakebot.com (hereinafter referred to as Website)
2. The rules are valid only for users of the Website.
3. B&C Ltd. company may collect and use the information about user's activities on the Website for statistical analysis of the Websites' visits in order to improve Website's structure, content and to study the interest for company's products
4. User may visit the Website without reporting any personal information, however, user may not get access to certain sections of the Website, offers and services, which require certain personal and contact information.
5. Some of the Website sections may use "cookies" or other traction technologies. Most Web browsers allow user to control "cookies" including accepting or declining them and provide instructions how to delete cookies from hard drive. Traction technologies may collect such information as user's Internet-domain; IP-address; type of browser and operation system; sequence of following links; date and time of Website's visit; location of user's device or computer including real-time location. This Web site uses cookies so B&C Ltd. company is able to improve the quality of the Website and user's experience.
6. B&C Ltd. company undertakes to take measures to protect user's personal information from unauthorized access and disclosure.
7. B&C Ltd. company does not rule out cases when user's info collected as a part of user's activity on the Websites will be disclosed to a third party, but only for the purposes stated in the Article 3 of this document.
8. User consent

By visiting the Website users agree with confidential policy for collecting, using and protecting personal information, electronically transferred personal data and give permission to process collected data for purposes including ones stated in Article 3 of this document

9. This confidential policy has been approved on 20th of March 2017. If the confidential policy changes B&C company will take all reasonable measures to notify users by publishing info on prominent parts of the Website for a reasonable period of time.